HELPFUL REVIEW

1. Literature Review:

Is literature synthesized? Does it create a compelling argument?

Is the rationale for the H/RQ clear and persuasive?

2. Methods:

How strong is the fit between the method and the RQ/H (variables are clearly present, tested etc.)?

3. Results

Do the results clearly address/answer the H/RQ? Is there enough information to draw conclusions without offering interpretation of the results (that is for the Discussion section)?

4. Discussion (if present)

Does the discussion clearly interpret the findings without overstating any inferences? Does it tie back to the RQ/H and the earlier literature? Does it include limitations and implications? Does it stress the insights gained by the study?
