

Final Exams

Fall 2023 Evening Schedule

*Classes meeting T 7:30–8:20 p.m., TR 4:30–5:20 p.m., W 4:30–6:20 p.m., or WF 4:30–5:45 p.m. have a conflicting exam time with some other classes in the designated exam group.

Friday evening exam times conflict with Weekend College final exam times for Friday evening classes.

Group Examination Schedule

Departments offering multiple sections of the same course may elect to schedule group examinations. You should check with your instructor to determine if your class is scheduled for one of the following group examination times:

Summer Sessions Final Examinations (Back to Contents)

During the last week of classes, all classes are scheduled for regular meeting at their regular times and in their regular classrooms. Each instructor may use this period for a final examination; a last, non-comprehensive examination; or a regular class meeting.

A student who is scheduled to take more than two examinations in one day, has a conflict of exams, or is scheduled to take a state, national, or professional licensing examination on the same day may contact the instructors involved prior to the last week of regularly scheduled classes to obtain appropriate rescheduling.

If, in the event of an emergency, you find it necessary to miss a final examination, you should contact your instructor prior to, or immediately after, the time of the exam.

Final Exam Policies and Procedures (Back to Contents)

All classes are scheduled for a two-hour meeting during final exam week. Exams will be in the regular meeting classroom at the times specified in the schedule shown (for daytime classes) or the schedule shown (for evening classes). Weekend College final exams are on the last day of class. Each instructor may use this period for a final examination, a last, non-comprehensive examination, or a regular class meeting. No exams may be scheduled during the week prior to final exam week except in laboratory courses. Final grades are due at noon on the Monday following final exam week.

All students are governed by the following regulation regarding final examination conflict:

A student who is scheduled to take more than two examinations in one day, who has a conflict of exams, or who is scheduled to take a state, national, or professional licensing examination may contact the instructor(s) involved, prior to the last week of regularly scheduled classes, to obtain appropriate rescheduling.

Instructors must turn in final course grades within 48 hours after a final exam; however, all final grades are due by noon on the Monday following final exam week. If, in the event of an emergency, you find it necessary to miss a final examination, you should contact your instructor prior to, or immediately after, the time of the exam.

If severe weather conditions cause a change in the schedule for final exams, the disruption will be announced on area radio stations and in other media. For specific information about the rescheduling of any exam that may be delayed, you should contact either the class instructor or the instructor's department.

The schedule for daytime class exams is based entirely on class begin time and the days that the class normally meets. The schedule for evening class exams is based on the exact beginning and ending times and the days that class normally meets.
